FOLK ART DISPLAYED IN LIBRARY

Folk Art of Mexico and Guatemala is now on exhibit in the Library.

The folk art shown, from several private collections, will include the well-known black pottery from Oaxaca, copper from Santa Clara del Cobre, bark paintings from Taxco, decorated pottery from Tonalá, lacquer work from Uruapan, onyx from the state of Puebla and textiles from Guatemala.

Also displayed during October is the Smithsonian Institution's "An American Album," an exhibition which combines photographs, lithographs, engravings and advertisements, all from the 19th century.
